LXXXIII - No. 11

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 2008

Raleigh, N.C.

Steve Troxler
Commissioner

October and November have been busy months as our department has finished the N.C. State Fair and held Hall of Fame Induction ceremonies for longtime Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham. And, on a personal note, the general election wrapped up in November.

I am honored to again have the pleasure of serving as Agriculture Commissioner for this great state, and promise to continue working hard on behalf of agricultural interests across this state.

I think it will be a challenging year ahead with the unsteadiness of the economy. We are all concerned about the current state of the economy, and our department is tightening its belt like everyone else. We know we will have our budget reduced this year, and I can only anticipate that trend could continue into the next fiscal year's budget as well.

Agriculture and agribusiness remain our state's leading industry, generating more than $70 billion for the economy. So I believe it is critical to continue to provide the services that support our leading industry. I will be making that point with legislators as they work on crafting a budget.

Likewise, we all have an interest in food safety, and I am committed to ensuring we do everything we can to protect our food supply. We are fortunate in this state to have staff who routinely collect and test samples of food products from grocery stores. In the event of food recalls, those same inspectors are out checking stores (See Commissioner, pg. 2)

NCDA&CS undertaking survey of ag water use

North Carolina farmers will have the opportunity to document agricultural water use through a survey by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

The NCDA&CS Agricultural Statistics Division will begin the survey in January in response to legislation passed by the General Assembly last summer. The legislation requires the division to compile a yearly survey of water use by farmers who withdraw 10,000 gallons of water per day from groundwater or surface water. The survey will document agricultural water use for 2008. Information about individual farms will be kept confidential.

"This survey is critical because basic water use information for agriculture is limited in most areas of the state," said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. "We are encouraging participation because we need good, accurate data."

Herb Vanderberry, director of the Agricultural Statistics Division, said public perception has been that farmers use an excessive amount of water. But other regional surveys have shown that agricultural water use is relatively small in comparison with industrial and other non-agricultural water consumption.

Troxler said the survey can clear up a lot of misperceptions about how much water farmers use. "The survey also will give us a good picture of how much water farmers need, so that if we find ourselves in another drought, we can make the case for making sure farmers aren't unfairly targeted," he said.

Survey forms will begin arriving in mailboxes in January, and results should be ready by July 1. Information about the survey is online at <http://www.ncagr.gov/water>.

Organic certification cost-share assistance available

Program to pay up to 75 percent of cost

Organic growers in North Carolina can apply for partial reimbursement of the cost of becoming certified or recertified producers through a program offered by the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Growers who are certified or recertified after Sept. 30, 2008, can apply for assistance through the program. The program will pay 75 percent of the cost of certification up to a total of $750.

The program is for the 2008-2009 season, and is funded through a $30,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Funds are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

To apply, growers must fill out an authorization form with the certifying agency and have that agency mail the form, a copy of the farm's certification and an invoice to the NCDA&CS Organic Certification Cost Share Program at 1020 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, NC 27699-1020. The invoice must show the total cost of certification and the 75 percent portion that is eligible for reimbursement.

Certifying agencies or growers with questions can call Kevin Hardison, NCDA&CS Marketing Division, at (919) 733-7887.

"Currently there are more than 100 certified organic farms in North Carolina," Hardison said. "Growers have more than 6,000 acres certified, producing a variety of vegetables, livestock, herbs and other products."

2008 State Fair finishes on high note with record day

The 2008 N.C. State Fair ended on a sunny Sunday with total attendance of 765,067.

"Sunday's attendance of 101,775 was a record for the final day, and that was a great way to end the 2008 State Fair," Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler said. "Even though we had some rainy days and cool temperatures during the Fair, folks still came out and had a great time."

Here are some highlights of the 2008 State Fair:

- The Fair opened a day earlier this year, on Thursday, Oct. 16. It was the first time since 1986 that the Fair added a day.

- The Midway featured 114 rides, the most ever.

- In addition to Sunday's attendance record, the State Fair posted its largest-ever crowd for a Tuesday, 71,199, which beat the previous record of 69,817, set just last year.

- The Fair collected used vegetable oil to convert into biodiesel for use at agricultural research stations operated by (See State Fair, pg. 2)

Grand champion barrow shown by Wyatt Scott of Lucama.

“The Junior Livestock Sale of Champions provides youth with money for their education and a place to showcase the hard work and dedication they put into raising these animals,” said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. “I’m appreciative of the buyers who are helping support the future of agriculture in North Carolina.”

The grand champion junior market steer was shown by Taylor Ridling, 19, of Salisbury (Rowan County).

Harris Teeter placed the winning bid of $24,000. The reserve grand champion junior market steer was shown by Derek Jones, 18, of Barnardsville (Madison). Martin Meats bid $13,000 for the animal.

The N.C.-born-and-bred champion steer was shown by 17-year-old Michael Carpenter of Franklin (Macon). Stanly County Livestock, Harward Brothers and Martin Meats bid $20,000 for the steer.

Alyson Moore, 16, of Selma (Johnston) sold her grand champion lamb to Harris Teeter for $7,000. Ashley Pittman, 14, of Kenly (Johnston) took home $4,500 from Iron Horse Auction and Scotland Motor Co. for her reserve champion lamb, which also was the N.C.-born-and-bred grand champion lamb.

Wyatt Scott, 12, of Lucama (Wilson) had the grand champion barrow, which Harris Teeter bought for $8,500. The reserve champion barrow was shown by Kaelyn Mohrfeld, 11, of Pink Hill (Duplin). Martin’s Pork and Neese’s Sausage teamed up for the winning bid of $4,500.

Garrett See, 15, of Raleigh (Wake) sold his grand champion turkey to Harris Teeter for $6,600. Reddin Wheeler of Angier (Harnett) had the reserve champion turkey, which Talley Farms bought for $4,000.
